To the MAKERS of POT AND PEARL-ASHES.

AS great Delays has been occaſion'd the laſt Seaſon, in the Inſpection of Pot and Pearl-Aſhes, by the Makers Neglect in not furniſhing the Maſters of Veſſels, by whom they ſent their Aſhes to this City, to be inſpected, with proper Accounts of the reſpective Brands or Marks, ſo as to enable the ſaid Maſters to deliver in to the Inſpector, on his Arrival, a regular Manifeſt of what he has on board, previous to the Delivery of the Aſhes; It is hereby earneſtly requeſted, for the ſake of more Diſpatch, and Conveniency to the Venders, in future, that the Makers or Shippers, do furniſh the Maſters of Veſſels by them employed, with an Account of the different Brands or Marks of the Aſhes, whoſe Property, and to whom it is to be delivered, after Inſpection; And that the Maſters of Veſſels do accordingly, from Time to Time, furniſh the Inſpector with an exact Account of what he has on board, as above-mentioned, before he begins to diſcharge, as the Contrary Proceeding has not only occaſioned the utmoſt Confuſion, but greatly retarded the Buſineſs of Inſpection, there having been too frequent Inſtances of Aſhes being ſent to the Inſpecting Stores, from a Number of Veſſels, at one Time, without any Account or Manifeſt accompanying the ſame.

Tranſlation of a letter from Civita Vecchia.

YESTERDAY a ſetuecca arrived here from Corſica. I have only time by this poſt, to ſend you the following extraordinary intelligence: Next week you ſhall receive intelligence ſtill more extraordinary, that will ſurprize you much.

"At Oletta, nine French ſoldiers, three weeks paſt, found an old peaſant, in appearance paſt 70, in a cottage in that place much wounded, and in company with his two daughters, who anxiouſly attended the critical ſituation of his health: Not doubting but he was wounded in a ſkirmiſh with the French troops, they compelled the eldeſt of the daughters to ſhoot the father when bound to a cheſnut-tree, and afterwards murdered the two daughters.

"At Sangalino, three Corſican girls, about 9 years of age, were yeſterday hanged up by their feet in the market-place, by order of a French Major for having cried, Viva il Coſtro Generale Illuſtriſſimo Signor Paulo. Having hung an hour, by order of the officer, their throats were cut, and they were ſuffered to hang bleeding the reſt of the day.

"At Paſtorechia, a father and ſon being returned to this place, after the laſt ſkirmiſh with the French, and much wounded, a party of French ſoldiers immediately ſeized the father and ſon; and put them into chains. The next morning they compelled the father, before a multitude of Corſican peaſants, to fire at his ſon, aged 32 years, who was inſtantly ſhot through the body.

"At Crucciaci, a Corſican prieſt, worn out with age, and much wounded, was found by a French officer and his party near this town; they immediately cut off the old man's legs, plucked out his tongue by the roots, ſtuck his eyes full of pins, and filled his mouth with pebbles; leaving the mutilated body upon the road.

"At Veſcovato, a decrepid peaſant, with every mark of venerable old age, ſupported by his ſon, a youth of 20, paſſing through this town, were laſt week ſeized for ſpies; the old man blind, the ſon deaf and dumb. Theſe objects of univerſal charity were by French penetration inſtantly dubbed ſpies. The unfortunate youth was beheaded, and his head placed in the hands of venerable old age, and who was immediately hung upon a tree.

"The French threaten there ſhall be an avenue formed with Corſican bodies, from Baſtia to Florence; nor is it to be doubted, for they have diſtributed two thouſand ſcalping knives among their troops, with a premium of twenty livres for every Corſican ſcalp. A brilliant proof of the politeneſs and humanity of the moſt refined nation in Europe, as the French ſtile themſelves, and who firſt taught the ſavage Americans the uſe of ſcalping knife; who taught barbarity to the moſt inhuman of ſavages!"

Nov. 28. The little runners of the Buckingham-Houſe Junto are endeavouring, wherever they can gain admittance, to excite compaſſion for the deplorable ſituation of the Royal mind, occaſioned by the marriage of the Duke of Cumberland, they ſay, "The King is quite unhappy about it."—Will he be pleaſed to recollect how many perſons he has made unhappy ſince he came to the Throne? When he feels for his people they will feel for him.——It is a truth, as clear as any principle in Euclid, that the national honour has been given up by an ignominious convention with Spain; that the people of England are oppreſſed with taxes to ſupport a long and ſcandalous liſt of placemen and penſioners, and to corrupt a majority in the two Houſes of Parliament; and that they have been robbed of their DEAREST RIGHTS to gratify private reſentment.—Ceaſe, ye ſycophants to chatter of Royal diſtreſs; that of the public is more important and much greater.

On Sunday last, the Lord Hyde Packet, Captain Braily, arrived here in 10 Weeks and 2 Days from Falmouth, by whom we have the following Advices.

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 18.

ON the 6th inst. there was a fire in this city which consumed near an hundred houses; amongst which were those of the Reis Effendi, the Mecktughi, and some other officers of the Porte. And on Saturday, at midnight, another fire broke out here, which burnt with great fury, in a strong gale of wind, for ten hours, and consumed an infinite number of houses, having burnt near half a mile in length.

LONDON, December 30.

Last Thursday and yesterday his Grace the Duke of Devonshire was at court, which was the first time his grace had made his appearance there since last winter, this causes various speculations among the politicians.

Saturday Her Royal Highness the Princess Dowager of Wales accompanied by her Serene Highness the Princess of Brunswick took an airing towards Chelsea, and afterwards returned to Charlton-House.

The Princess Dowager, when she goes abroad on an airing, has seldom any body in the carriage with her; when any one does accompany her, it is Miss Vansittart.

We hear that when the Princess of Brunswick applied to a Great Personage in behalf of the D. of C. the Q. was present, and joined in the Princess's request.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Dec. 23.

"On Friday last a very extraordinary event happened at the Duke de la Valliere's. The Marquis de Sorba, Minister from the Republick of Genoa, was at dinner with him, when one of the company at table told the Duke that he did not like his wine, which had a particular taste: and whilst the Duke was answering him, M. de Sorba fell down dead, without uttering a word.

The Duke of Cumberland has changed his livery and arms, and the following words of the Roman Satirist have been recommended to him as a motto for his coach—Exeat AULA qui volet esse pius.

Tuesday last, when the Lord Mayor was collecting charity for the prisoners, a gentleman in a coffee-house at the Exchange asked one of the officers where Mr. Wilkes was: "Oh, Sir! (replied the officer) my master Wilkes never asks charity but for himself."

The following particulars are said to have transpired of a conversation that passed the beginning of last week between the Earl of R. and the Spanish Ambassador: The English Minister reproached the other with the pretences lately spread abroad of a dangerous insurrection in the Island of Luconia, declaring that to his knowledge no advices of that kind had been received by the Court of Spain, and that the report had been only raised in order to cover the true design of their preparations against this country, telling him at the same time, that it was looked upon by all the King's Ministers as an additional insult, and that of the worst kind, to chuse to date their false reports from a place which had already been the instrument of such scandalous imposition on this country, in the affair of the Manilla Ransom. The Spaniard, willing to evade the principal point, replied, that the Manilla Ransom was now a matter of no consideration to us, as it is well known that the greatest part of the captors had sold their shares to Jews and Brokers, who consequently would be the only gainers by the payment; to which the Secretary of State returned, that if they had taken so unadvised a step, the perfidy of Spain had been the cause of it; that the national honour was concerned; that the money should be paid; and the national interest required that so considerable a sum should not remain in the hands of an enemy to enable him to equip himself for war at our expence.

The attempt to steal a forged money bill on the Commons of Ireland has compleated the infamy of Administration in that kingdom, as a correspondent assures us; who adds, that the moment Lord Townsend closes the Parliament he will bid an everlasting adieu to his government.

On Sunday as a Great Personage was going to St. James's, he had a paper put in his hand, by a well dressed man, on which was wrote the following text of Scripture: First go and be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

Dec. 31. An Irish money bill, which is supposed to be the same as was agreed to by the Irish House of Commons, without any alteration, passed the Great Seal on Saturday last, and was sent off on Sunday by a special messenger.

We have great pleasure in hearing from a correspondent, that the merchants of Dublin, penetrated with a just sense of the great national advantage resulting from the spirited conduct of the House of Commons in rejecting an altered money-bill, and having determined on their part that the public shall not suffer in point of revenue thereby, have agreed to enter into an association that they will take no advantage of the suspension of the bill of supply, but will pay the duties as if the act had passed; and assures us the rest of the kingdom will follow this virtuous example.

Extract of a letter from Manchester.

"We are credibly informed, that there are letters in London, and in this town, informing, that the Court of Spain have passed a decree, that no cotton goods shall be imported from England; that those traders, who have any such goods upon hand, shall have twenty-one months allowed them to wear them out; various are the conjectures here upon such a proceeding."

Dec. 30. "There has been discovered in the dock-yard a woman about twenty-four years of age, who went by the name of William Chandler; when a girl, in the last war, she dressed herself in boy's clothes, and went on board the Royal William as a servant to the carpenter; at the end of the war, the ship was paid off, her master then bound her apprentice to a shipwright in the yard, to whom she served the term of seven years very faithfully; at the expiration of her time, she was entered as a shipwright in the said yard, where she followed her occupation as a shipwright, for the space of two years before any discovery was made of her sex."

Jan. 7. Yesterday morning about half past nine o'clock a powder mill at Moulsey in Surry blew up; the explosion was so great as to shake the houses in different parts of London, and it was supposed to be an earthquake, and the people thought they felt four shocks; which was occasioned by different warehouses where the gunpowder was lodged blowing up one after another. The inhabitants on the Surry side of the Thames felt it so forcibly that they at first imagined their houses were falling down.

Another account says, that the explosion was at the mill on Hounslow Heath; and that considerable damage was thereby done to the houses in Hounslow, Twickenham, Isleworth, Brentford, and the neighbouring villages and that the men were gone to breakfast when the accident happened, and no lives were lost.

At Stanmore, about 12, or 14 miles to the Northward of Moulsey, the houses were alarmingly shaken four times, and seemed each time as if some very great weight had been pitched down upon a floor in a different part of the house. The inhabitants however were soon freed from any apprehension of its being caused by an earthquake, by the great black smoke which was seen towards Hounslow and Moulsey, and men who were at work in the fields presently smelled the gunpowder, as plainly as if a gun had been discharged near them.

They write from Gibraltar, that a Tunisian frigate of 16 guns had been sunk near the Isle of Caprara, in the Mediterranean, by a frigate in the service of the Grand Duke of Tuscany; the frigate was commanded by a Frenchman, and chiefly manned with foreigners.

Extract of a Letter from our Correspondent at the Hague, dated December 25. 1771.

"The States General have, for this month past been constantly deliberating upon ways and means to prevent a famine, which begins to threaten the Seven united Provinces. The best Wheat bread is already sold there at the enormous price of three pence per pound, and Rye bread is sold at a dearer rate in proportion to the value of those two grains: The poorer sort of people, who are by much the most numerous class, are not able to purchase even the latter bread, so that their whole subsistence is nothing but potatoes, and even that fruit of the earth is advanced in price, double to what it was last winter. The common fuel of the Dutch is Turf, and that too is grown so dear, that the middling class of people find the utmost difficulty in indulging themselves with this necessary article of domestic utility; as for the poor, they are obliged to go intirely without it. These distresses, together with the havock that has for these two years been made by the distemper, and which still continues to carry off their cows, have almost incited the Dutch to rise up in arms. The Magistracy, alarmed at their own situation, as well as that of the distressed people, came at last to the resolution to take the deplorable case of their Fellow Countrymen seriously into deliberation; and yesterday they issued a placart to prohibit for a certain time the further distillation of gin from malt spirits. But this, alas! is only a palliative medicine, not curing the present malady, and the present dearness and scarcity of grain is the evil the people complain of. Fortunately, as well for the Magistracy as for the starving poor, it was reported here that a ship laden with Rye arrived in the Texel two days ago from North America, which has for a moment suppressed the tumultuary spirit of the people; but if this report should prove groundless, as we begin here already to doubt the veracity of it, God only knows what will be the consequence.

This, Sir, is a true picture of the distressed situation of the Dutch in general, however cautious the Magistrates may be to keep it from being publicly known.

P. S. The week before last, a Farmer near Rotterdam lost one hundred and sixty Cows out of his whole stock, which consisted of no more then two hundred head."

Jan. 11. On Monday last, about ten o'clock in the forenoon, a most surprising affair happened at the house of Mrs. Golding at Stockwell: all the china, glasses, stone ware, pewter, brasses, and other furniture began to fall down from their places, and break to pieces: this continued slowly for some time, till the lady could no longer stay in her house, but went next door to Mr. Gresham's, where she lost her senses; her niece being sent for had her blooded, and as soon as the blood was cold in the bason, it flew out on the floor, and presently the bason broke to pieces. She was obliged to remove from Mr. Gresham's, as the same damages began in his house; her maid was with her all the whole time. She then went to her niece (Mrs. Payne) a farmer at Brixton Causey, where almost every thing was destroyed in the house, by the same invisible agent; her maid was still with her, who seemed quite unconcerned the whole time. She then went over the way to Mr. Fowler, at the brick pond, where the same scene followed her, and was obliged to return to her own house, when the few things which were left began to move and break: they sent the maid away on an errand to try what effect that would have when every thing immediately ceased, upon which when she returned, they discharged her, and all has continued quiet ever since. The old lady, it is thought, cannot recover. The above are absolute facts, though not the hundredth part of what happened, the whole of which is preparing to be laid before the candid and impartial public, properly attested and authenticated.

One circumstance, as it is the most remarkable should not be omitted: Some plates of Mr. Gresham's, by way of trial, were placed upon the same shelf with those of Mrs. Golding's, the former's stood unhurt, the whole of Mrs. Golding's were broke in pieces.

About ten days ago Mr. W. an eminent attorney, who lived near Chester, set out from his house on horseback, attended by one footman, to transact some particular business a few miles distant. Soon after his departure, his wife dispatched a man and horse, with a letter, after Mr. W. strongly urging him to return, not to go that day, but defer the business to another. The man soon overtook him; he read the letter, and bid the man tell his mistress, that, to oblige her, he would postpone his journey; but that, as he was out, he would take a little turn for an airing. Soon after, riding along, the footman perceived some blood drop slowly upon the ground from, as he supposed, his master's horse; the blood, however, becoming a little current, he hastily rode up, asked his master, "For God's sake what was the matter with his horse?" but only time enough to catch Mr. W. in his arms.—He had first cut his throat, and afterwards stabbed himself in three places on the side of his belly.—No one of the family can, in any manner, account for this most shocking transaction.

Dublin Dec. 24. We have the pleasure to inform the public, that there were no duties but the customary ones laid this present session of parliament upon any thing whatever, excepting soapers waste, and vinegar, which were intended as a prohibition for the service of this country.

Cork, Dec. 16. Friday last a lighter came foul of a wharfe in Youghall, by which she sunk, and three men, all brothers, belonging to her, were drowned.

Dublin Castle, Jan. 1. This day his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant went in state to the House of Peers, and gave the royal assent to the following bill:

An act for granting to his Majesty an additional duty on the several commodities, goods, and merchandizes therein mentioned; and for prohibiting the importation of all gold and silver lace, and of all cambricks and lawns, except of the manufacture of Great Britain.

The following is an abstract Account of the Loss of the Ship Tryon, Captain Thomas Farmar, of this Port, bound to Briſtol.

—On the 9th of December 1771 he made Ireland, and took a Pilot on board, who, about 12 o'Clock at Night ran the Veſſel on ſhore on the Naze Sand, where ſhe loſt her Rudder; he beat over and anchored between the Sand and the Shore till the 12th. The Wind blowing violently drove them on Shore, where her Bottom was immediately beat out. They were ſoon viſited by ſome Thouſands of the Savage Inhabitants of the Country, who, armed with Hatchets &c. came to plunder the Wreck. The Crew got on Shore, ſaved the Sails and ſome Deer Skins; but One Half of them was taken away by theſe Pirates, who, ſeveral Times attempted to ſet the Ship on Fire, and in all probability would have maſſacred the Crew, had it not been for the Providential Aſſiſtance of Henry Knight Eſq; a Member of Parliament, whoſe Eſtate lies in that Place. This worthy Gentleman came with his Servants properly Armed, and joined the Crew in firing at the Miſcreants, ſeveral of whom were wounded; the Reſt were with much difficulty kept off. The Captain perceived the Impoſſibility of effectually watching and oppoſing the continual Attempts of the Country People, till he heard from Briſtol, and could have proper Aſſiſtance; this reduced him to the Neceſſity of ſelling the Wreck, after Twenty Four Hours Notice had been previouſly given at the neighbouring Towns.

Captain Brailey, the 25th March, Lat. 38, 31, Lon. 68, ſpoke with the Brig Liberty, Captain Prince, 3 Days out from this Place bound to Cayane, all well.

On Sunday laſt the following Veſſels arrived, viz. The Schooner Betſy, Capt. Jaſper Griffin, in 20 Days from Mounſerat, who, on his Paſſage the 25th March, Lat. 37, 15. ſpoke with a Sloop, Capt. Clark, from Cuba bound to Cape Cod.—The Ship Peggy, Capt. Joſeph Jauncey, in 33 Days from the Bay of Honduras, ſpoke on the 27th March, Lat. 39, 42, with a Brig, Captain——, from New-London bound to Barbadoes.—The Sloop Suſanna, Capt. Peter Waller, in 35 Days from Cape Francois, ſpoke on the 15th March, Lat. 38, 30, with a Schooner, from Barbadoes bound to Rhode-Iſland. Captain Waller, met with ſeveral Gales of Wind on the Coaſt, which ſplit his Sails all to Pieces. Captain Le Roux, from this Place, is arrived at the Cape.

TO BE SOLD,

BY the ſubſcriber, and may be entered upon on the firſt day of the fifth month (May) next or ſooner if needful, A valuable tract of land, ſituate in the townſhip of Upper Freehold and county of Monmouth in Eaſt New Jerſey, nine miles from Bordentown, and four from Allentown, containing upwards of 180 acres of exceeding good land, 25 acres thereof is good meadow, the moſt part produces a great burthen of clover and ſpear graſs.—Upwards of 100 acres plow land, and two bearing Orchards, all incloſed with good cedar fence.

On the land are erected a merchant and griſt mill, having two pair of ſtones, three Boulting cloths and, hoiſting jack, which all work by water.—The mill houſe is 55 feet by 26 feet, with a lento of 14 feet wide, a good ſcale-beam and weights, a wire ſcreen for cleaning wheat and other utenſils neceſſary to ſaid mills,—a fulling mill and dye houſe, wherein is a large furnace, well fixed, a preſs ſhop, preſs ſcrew and other implements for carrying on the fulling buſineſs; a ſaw mill built about two years ſince, ſuited to cut ſhip-plank or other timber 40 feet long, having crow bars, dogs and other utenſils requiſite thereto.—All ſaid mills are ſituated on a large and conſtant ſtream of water called Croſwick's Creek, whereby all ſorts of lumber flour and other produce may be tranſported to Philadelphia, at a moderate expence There are alſo on ſaid premiſes, a commodious brick dwelling houſe, 2 ſtory high with three rooms on a floor; a frame tenement 1½ ſtory high having 6 rooms and a Kitchen, all adjoining;—a well of water near the door, and one garden before and another behind the houſe, both well encloſed.

There are likewiſe on ſaid premiſes, four other tenements (ſuitable for a miller, cooper, fuller and a blackſmith and their families) a cooper's ſhop, ſmith's ſhop and coal houſe—a large pork houſe, ſmoak houſe, barn, waggon houſe, chaiſe houſe, and ſtables ſufficient for 14 horſes.——The ſituation is very convenient for a merchant (a ſtore having been kept there for many years paſt) and for collecting pork, which may yearly be had in large quantities in the neighbourhood, as good in quality as any were in the province of New-Jerſey. The neighbouring farmers generally ſell wheat, one penny per buſhel lower at the ſaid mill, than at the mills nearer Delaware —Much may be ſaid in favour of the premiſes, as to the pleaſant, agreeable and advantageous ſituation thereof in a rich and fertile Country, but an examination will be the beſt recommendation—The title is clear and indiſputable, and time will be given for large part of the purchaſe money.

Alſo to be ſold, a tract of good land in Nottingham townſhip, Burlington county, two miles from Lewis's mill, and 2½ miles from Vandikes landing, containing 178 acres; 56 whereof is meadow land or ſwamp, of which 5 acres are cleared, about eighty acres of plow land cleared and in good fence, a good bearing orchard.—The remainder is well timbered land.—Hereon is erected a convenient fram'd dwelling with a well of water before the door, alſo a ſuitable barn——adjoining to the premiſes lies a large quantity of timber land very uſeful for an outlett for cattle or ſwine.—The place is now in tenure of Peter Curtis, and may be enter'd on the firſt of the fourth month (April) next ——It's ſituation being contiguous to navigable water will produce great advantage to a purchaſer in the ſale of timber he may clear off the land, which will bring a good price at the aforeſaid landings, time will be given for part of the purchaſe monies.

Any perſon inclining to purchaſe the whole or part of the above deſcribed lands, may be further inform'd by applying to James and Drinker, Merchants in Philadelphia,——John and William Imlay, merchants in New-York, or to the owner living on the firſt mentioned place. 25 29

Receipt for the LADIES to retain the Affections of their HUSBANDS.

TAKE of Beauty and Wit what you happen to have,
Each as pure and as ſimple as Nature firſt gave;
Mix them up with Diſcretion, and, ſtirring them well,
Put good Humour two Handfuls, for Taſte and for Smell;
Throw in Plenty of Smiles, but of Frowns very few,
For they injure each other, as Contraries do;
If the good Man's within, ſit and chat by his Side,
Leſt your Silence he conſtrues to Sourneſs or Pride;
But if, ruffled abroad, in a Pet he comes home,
To keep up due Decorum, your Cue muſt be mum;
Let your Reaſoning be ſoft, if you mean to reform,
Reproaches won't mend they will kindle a Storm;
With a Smile bid him welcome, and part with a Sigh,
It will make him love Home, and beſides give you Joy;
Let his Friends be treated and receiv'd with Reſpect,
Leſt he thinks himſelf glanc'd at by ſuch a Neglect;
To theſe you may add what Affection you pleaſe,
But a little of Fondneſs, for of Love 'tis the Lees;
Let your own Inclination proceed to his Will,
And of all Things avoid the genteel Diſhabille;
Work it well together, in the Manner of Paſte,
Candy'd o'er with good Senſe, and I'll warrant it laſt.

INOCULATION.

THE Subſcriber begs Leave to inform the Public, that he has opened a very convenient Houſe in a remote, tho' pleaſant Situation, within three miles of New-Brunſwick for the Reception of ſuch Perſons as propoſe taking the Small-Pox by Inoculation. The beſt Attendance will be given, and every Thing proper for their Accommodation ſhall be furniſhed, at a very low and eaſy Rate.

MANY are detered from being incoculated, on Account of ſore Arms, Boils and large Abſceſſes, often attending the common Method of treating the Diſeaſe, but more particularly from the ill Effects of the too free and indiſcriminate Uſe of Mercury, by which, many (tho' they recover of the Small-Pox, yet the Conſtitution being injured,) ſoon fall Victims to ſome other Malady.

ALL theſe Inconveniences are avoided by a particular Method of preparing the Patient, the moſt efficacious and the leaſt detrimental to the Conſtitution, by the Manner of conveying the Infection, and by the ſubſequent Treatment of the Diſeaſe, without the leaſt Confinement; the Advantages of which have been fully and clearly demonſtrated in upwards of 400 Perſons under the Subſcriber's Care, in the ſpace of a few Months, laſt Winter and Spring, without the Misfortune of loſing any; nor has there died more than one of that Number ſince, which plainly ſhews the ſingular Advantages of this Method.

A ſufficient Number to make it worth his While, in any Part of the Country not contiguous to a Perſon properly qualified, (I don't mean authoriſed) ſhall be waited on, at a ſhort Notice, by the Publick's

Moſt obedient humble Servant,

NEW-BRUNSWICK, December 12, 1771. JOHN COCHRAN. 19—
